Red Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Inter-American Peace Committee accused Fidel Castro's Cuban regime Thursday of an unceasing campaign to defame other nations of the hemisphere and to incite "violent subversion" against their governments.

Denouncing this as political aggression, the committee said Castro's ties with communism, subversive activities and violations of human rights are the main cause of international tensions in the Americas.

The committee is an autonomous body that functions through the Organization of American States and has five members—El Salvador, Uruguay, Colombia, Venezuela and the United States.

To Drill For Oil In Bradford

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — The Minard Run Oil Co. said Thursday it plans a $400,000 exploration of the oil and gas possibilities deep below the Bradford oil-bearing sand, once the world's biggest producer of crude oil.

Minard Run, one of the state's oldest oil companies and a pioneer in the Bradford oil field, proposes to drill the deepest well in the region's history a few miles south of the city.

Drilling will start next month and go between 11,000 and 12,000 feet, said F. Wayne Fesemyer, company president. The average well in the Bradford field is about 1,600 feet, with some going to 2,100 feet.

Hopes Still High
Boys Are Alive

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (AP) — "Waiting is hard. We still have hopes the boys are alive. We've got to go on. We'll just have to wait and hope."

Eugene Husted repeats these words over and over, standing watch in the cold outside an abandoned clay mine where his young son and a companion are believed trapped.

The boys, Larry Husted, 10, of West Decatur, and Wesley Lowe, 13, of Morgan Run, have been missing since they entered the mine last Sunday.

Shoot Sheriff In Gambling Probe

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A deputy sheriff investigating gambling rackets was shot and wounded Thursday in a gangland style ambush.

Deputy Ed Barnett, 36, is recovering in Good Samaritan Hospital from a wound in his right arm.

Sheriff A.B. Widener blamed the attack on big-time gamblers.

Widener said Barnett was struck by one of three bullets fired from a car in a lonely woods at the western edge of Palm Beach.

Group Studies
Slot Machines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee wrestled Thursday with the question of how to define illegal slot machines without hurting the play-for-fun operators or leaving loopholes for tricky gamblers.

Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., strongly supported an administration bill aimed at halting interstate shipment of gambling-type pinball machines. He said it would "severely crimp the involved web of gambling, if not eliminate it altogether."

Rep. Owen Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee which is considering the bill, wondered whether the language of the proposal might be so broad as to be unconstitutional.

Pittsburgh Heist
Netted $29,600

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An audit revealed Thursday that two gunmen got $29,600 in a holdup at a Pittsburgh bank instead of about $10,000 as first thought.

Police are still searching for the bandits who rifled cash drawers Wednesday at the Oakland Branch of the Union National Bank.

Authorities later found the rifle, revolver and masks used by the bandits in the holdup. They were sent to the FBI crime lab in Washington for study.

Southern U.
Closes Its Doors

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Southern University, largest state university for Negroes in the nation, closed its doors Thursday until further notice in the wake of student demonstrations against racial segregation.

President Felton G. Clark told the 4,900 students of the decision when he addressed a campus convocation.

Later, in a news release, Clark told the Negro students "there can be no communication in any kind of mob situation."

RIOTING IN SANTO DOMINGO—Rioting youths in Santo Domingo wield clubs against a truck already set afire during disturbances in the Dominican Republic. Scattered resistance continued to the new army-controlled government with an undetermined number of persons killed and wounded.

Dominicans In Turmoil
As Military Junta Rules

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The U.S. technical mission left for home Thursday.

Dominicans offered continued scattered resistance to the military-dominated junta that suddenly took over their government.

The U.S. mission, which had barely arrived, had been sent to help the now deposed Council of State shape up plans for a fast economic recovery.

A communiqué from the U.S. Embassy explained that the change of government appeared to be in violation of the constitution and that the United States was re-examining its policy toward the Dominican Republic.

A number of persons have been killed and wounded since Tuesday when a clash between demonstrators and air force tanks resulted in an announcement by Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, the armed forces chief, that President Joaquin Balaguer and most of the Council of State had resigned. In its stead he announced that three military men and four civilians had formed a new ruling junta.

Soviet Brass Hold
Moscow Meeting

LONDON (AP)—Senior Communist party officials from the 15 republics of the Soviet Union were meeting in Moscow Thursday as diplomatic reports reached London of a three-way political struggle for power.

British and other Western authorities gave this picture of the political lineup they believe has developed inside the Soviet Union:

1. Premier Khrushchev, with his officially accepted program of peaceful coexistence, is preserving an uneasy middle position between two extreme and active pressure groups.

2. On one side of him, the so-called anti-party group stands in favor of a return to some of the stark and rigid teachings of Stalin. The group has been identified with such old guard Bolsheviks as former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, ex-Premier Georgi Malenkov and onetime Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich. Their opposition to the coexistence line, frequently and fiercely denounced by Khrushchev's followers, appears to have the broad support of Red China and Albania.

3. On the other side of Khrushchev is a broad, unidentifiable movement of young Soviet citizens groping toward some of the ideas and principles of Western-type liberal democracy. This ground swell movement seems to have no detectable leadership. Western diplomats consider that some of its inspiration comes from writers, artists, university graduates whose strivings towards greater liberalism has been spurred by Khrushchev's laying bare the specter of Stalinism.

The conference of party functionaries announced by Moscow radio Thursday appears likely to herald a shakeup in the Soviet Communist machine. The talks, as described in the broadcast, are concerned mainly with organizational matters rather than with policy.

UN Offers Help In Kongolo Massacre

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations has offered the Congolese government every possible assistance in finding the Congolese troops who perpetrated the Kongolo massacre, U.N. headquarters announced Thursday.

A U.N. spokesman said it would help, too, in preventing further incidents of brutality and indiscipline.

Aerial reconnaissance of the Kongolo area showed no significant concentrations or movements of troops. Port facilities of the Lualaba River town in northern Katanga were silent and deserted, the spokesman said.

Red Cross and U.N. medical and military officers were being readied for a visit to Kongolo to conduct an on-the-spot investigation in collaboration with the Congolese authorities. The date remains to be set.

There were no further reports to indicate what happened to local residents after the New Year's Day massacre of 19 white Roman Catholic priests and an unknown number of African civilians by rampaging troops from Stanleyville, once loyal to deposed Deputy Premier Antoine Gizenga.

The reconnaissance mission, carried out by an Indian Canberra jet, revealed a large body of

At least one youth was killed

Bulletin

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The deposed provisional ruling State Council Thursday night recaptured control of the Dominican government from the junta headed by military strongman Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria.

Rodriguez Echavarria, the 37-year-old general who threw out the council 48 hours before, was imprisoned in a military counter coup and four of his junta members also were arrested.

Rafael Bonnelly was proclaimed new president of the republic and head of the seven-man council.

and two wounded when soldiers fired on a group standing by a water hydrant that had been smashed.

Trouble In Santiago

Unconfirmed reports from Santiago, second largest city, said several were killed and wounded there in clashes with authorities. Telephone and telegraph communication with provincial centers has been suspended.

Santo Domingo streets were littered with shattered glass and nails, and in some cases were blocked with barricades thrown up by youths.

Despite an official warning of stiff penalties for strikes, most stores were closed.

Americans Stranded

A number of U.S. citizens, mostly businessmen, were stranded at the Hotel Embajador, seeking ways to leave the country. About 30 or 40 guests were registered there. Most of them came to the Dominican Republic after Jan. 1 when the installation of the short-lived Council of State gave hopes of a return to democracy and business activity here.

Dutch Accept U Thant's
Offer As Intermediary

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — The Netherlands Thursday accepted Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's offer of good offices in its dispute with Indonesia and proposed that he send observers to West New Guinea, where opposing naval forces already have fought one night engagement.

With both sides talking of negotiation, and with neither side actually getting talks under way, Thant asked that Dutch and Indonesian representatives sit down with him and discuss "the possibilities of a peaceful settlement."

Premier Jan De Quay, in his reply, said he had instructed Ambassador C. W. A. Schurmann, the Dutch representative at the United Nations, "to place himself at your disposal in order to have further discussions regarding the possibilities for a peaceful settlement."

The top Dutch commander in West New Guinea, Rear Adm. L. E. H. Reeser, told newsmen there that the three Indonesian torpedo boats intercepted Monday night were sent to land a regular army force of about 100 men at Kaimana on the south coast where there is an army garrison and air strip.

The admiral said the commander of the Indonesian boats planned to establish a beachhead there "and to liquidate Dutch authorities."

An official report said 52 prisoners were fished from the water after their boat went down. Some of them have been quoted by Dutch officers as saying the expedition was equipped with motorized rubber assault boats, mortars, submachineguns, rifles and ration for 20 days.

About 30 other Indonesians are estimated to have lost their lives. Thant's plea for talks was sent simultaneously to the Dutch premier, and Indonesian President Sukarno, but so far no formal reply has been reported from Jakarta.

Dispatches from Jakarta said, however, that the Indonesian Cabinet was united in the belief that Thant was the only hope of a peaceful solution. But the Indonesians were reported unbending in their insistence that West New Guinea with its 700,000 Papuan people be turned over to them for administration.

Soviets Send Submarines
To Help Indonesians

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Informed sources said Thursday four long-range Soviet submarines arrived Monday to augment the Indonesian navy in the conflict with the Dutch over West New Guinea. The first Dutch-Indonesian naval engagement was a surface clash on Monday.

The four subs were described as long-range "W" class vessels of 1,000 tons displacement, carrying 14 torpedoes each. Two of the same type were delivered by the Soviet Union to Indonesia in August 1959.

Informants said the four new subs arrived in Jakarta's heavily guarded Tandjung Periuk Harbor under escort of a Soviet mother ship from Vladivostok.

The mother ship was expected to stay in Indonesian waters until Indonesian navy personnel complete their training on the new craft.

Indonesian personnel brought the first two submarines in 1959 from Vladivostok with a number of Russians aboard each.

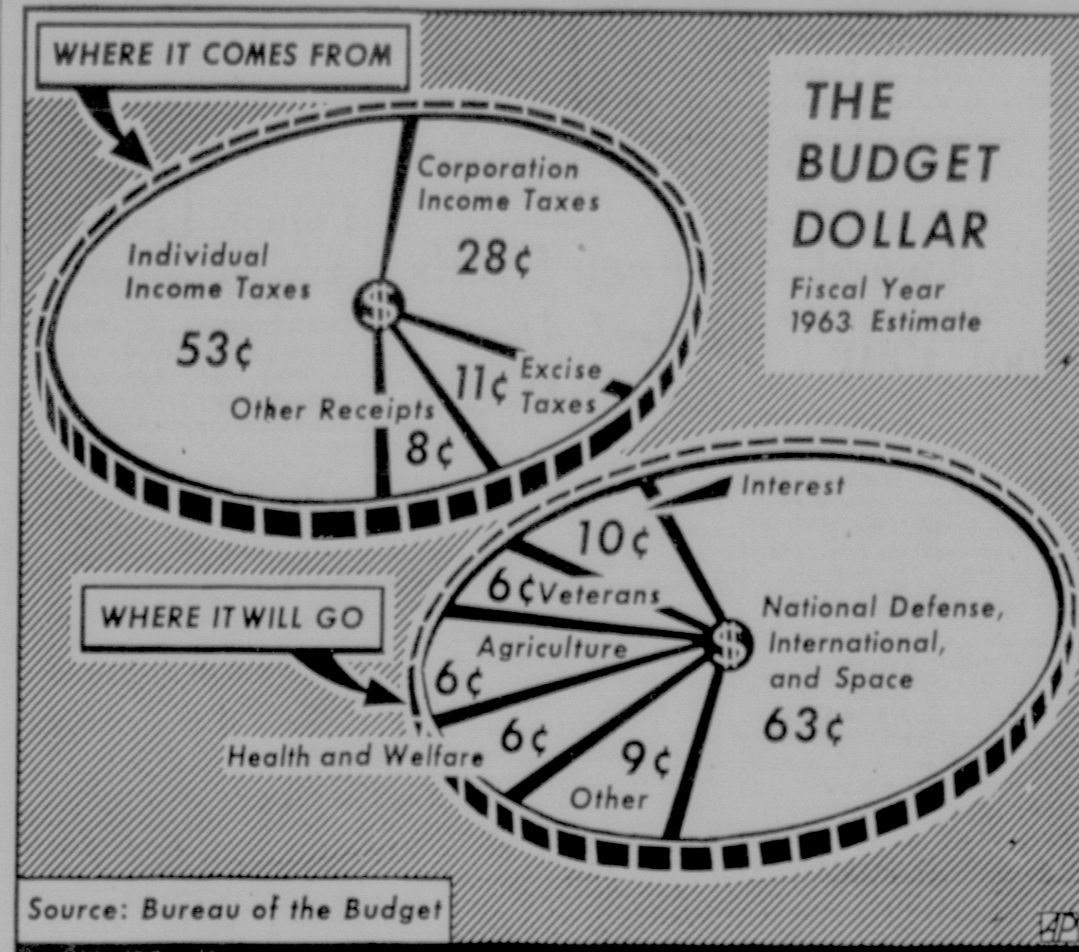

Published specifications show a "W" class sub has six torpedo tubes, two 57mm and two 25mm guns and calls for a crew of 60; it has a surface speed of 17 knots and an underwater speed of 15.

Congress Gets Record Budget
Of $92.5 Billion From JFK

Reaction Mixed' But Follows Party Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy brought fourth Thursday what he termed a prudent, responsible $92,537,000,000 budget that calls for a small, shaky surplus — and $11.5 billion more spending than any peacetime budget ever submitted to Congress.

Kennedy said it will strengthen the domestic economy, the national defense, and a free world still under the shadow of threatened war.

This new budget is for the 1963 fiscal year, beginning next July 1. The President sent it up to Capitol Hill accompanied by a 7,400-word message telling why he thinks it is a good one.

Good Times

It counts on good times at home and on a reluctant Congress to boost the price of mailing a letter to help keep income and spending in balance. It contemplates a drop in the unemployment rate from 6.1 to 4 per cent by mid-1963. It regards nuclear war as less likely than lesser-scale Communist aggression. It promises to reach out more vigorously toward the moon and Venus.

"I recommend it to the Congress for action," the President said, "in full confidence that it provides for the prudent use of our resources to serve the national interest."

Some key Republicans and a few Democrats in Congress were contending before they saw the budget that it is so heavy on spending that it will be impossible to keep it balanced.

They repeated this view after seeing the document. Some members in both parties questioned Kennedy's prediction of an $11-billion increase in revenues, on which the small surplus was based.

Leaders' Views

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the administration is "racing headlong into future deficits of enormous size."

The Democratic leaders defended the budget. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana called it "a sound formula for maintaining both fiscal responsibility and the forward momentum of the nation's economy."

In a Senate speech, Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., attacked the President's claim of a balanced budget as "about as phony as some of his earlier campaign speeches."

However, Budget Director David E. Bell told reporters: "It is our judgment that this is not a phony and rigged budget but an honest and accurate budget."

Bell's comment was in response to reminders that some Democrats last year accused former President Dwight D. Eisenhower of submitting a "phony" budget which indicated a surplus that did not materialize.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, discussing the projected $11-billion revenue increase, told newsmen that the administration expects the economic upswing to continue at least until the late summer or fall of 1963. Kennedy will submit later this year a proposed broad-based tax overhaul, including a review of basic tax rates, for congressional action in 1963.

No Major Surprise

There is little that is essentially new and nothing in the way of a major surprise in the 1963 budget. But it is the first one that is all Kennedy's own.

A year ago the new President inherited a farewell budget from Eisenhower and began adding $8 billion to it, mostly for a mightier defense.

Mostly Defense

But as has been the case for years, the budget was preponderantly given over to defense.

For 1963, it proposes that 63 cents of every dollar spent go into defense, the conduct of international affairs, and a stepped-up effort to conquer space.

Interest charges alone are going to cost another 10 cents out of the dollar—they are approaching a total of $10 billion a year. Expenditures on veterans and on agriculture will use up about six cents each out of the dollar. All other activities of the government, including costs of running the myriad federal departments and agencies, Congress and the courts, will account for only nine cents.

Legally, the husband is head of the household and the pedestrian has the right-of-way. Both are safe as long as they don't try to exercise their rights.

U.S. Plans Three-Phase
Space Probe Next Week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States plans literally and figuratively to "shoot for the moon" next week in what could be its proudest period of the young space age.

Undergoing final checks on launching pads here are three powerful rockets designed to boost the first American into orbit about the earth, to land a package of instruments on the moon and to hurl five satellites aloft simultaneously.

Man In Orbit

The "big one," of course, is Wednesday's scheduled attempt to rocket astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into an orbit which will whip him three times around the world at altitudes up to 150 miles in 4½ hours.

But no less important to space scientists are the moon shot, scheduled Monday; and the quintuplet-satellite firing, set for Thursday.

All three launchings will contribute greatly to this nation's avowed goal of placing a three-man astronaut team on the moon in this decade, hopefully by 1967.

Widely Covered

If the United States stubs its toe on any of the launchings, it will be in the glare of publicity. Hundreds of newsmen from many countries are pouring into the nearby missile community of Cocoa Beach, which long ago ran out of motel and hotel rooms for next week. Restaurants and night clubs are booming.

Thousands of persons will cram the beaches north and south of the Cape to watch and millions may see on television, the Atlas rockets carrying Glenn, 40, and the Ranger 3 moon probe blast off. This is in deep contrast to the secrecy which surrounds Soviet space shots.

In Readiness

Glenn, 40, a Marine lieutenant colonel, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter, the backup pilot, are in special quarters at Cape Canaveral.

An Atlas Agena-B rocket is intended to boost the 727-pound gold-and-silver plated payload aloft on the 66-hour trip to the moon. A television camera is to relay pictures of the surface as the vehicle approaches from an altitude of 2,400 miles down to 15 miles. Then a 96.5 pound sphere is to detach, slowed down by means of a reverse rocket and bounce on the surface.

The ball, wrapped in a thick layer of shock-absorbing balsa wood, carries a sensitive seismometer to measure moonquakes and meteor impacts. This information, radioed to NASA's jet propulsion laboratory facility at Goldstone, Calif., should provide valuable data about the composition of the moon's surface.

The 5-in-1 satellite rocket, to be launched by the Air Force and Navy, is a Thor-Able-Star. A similar rocket successfully orbited three satellites at one time earlier this year.

The five payloads, collectively called Composite 1, are to send back data on radiation, magnetic fields, the ionosphere, geodetic measurements and space tracking.

Rusk Claims Intervention
Blocked Soviets In Congo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk stoutly maintained Thursday that U.N. intervention blocked a Soviet takeover scheme in the Congo and averted a Russian-U.S. clash in the heart of Africa.

Testifying at the opening of a congressional inquiry into U.S. support of the U.N. intervention, Rusk expressed cautious optimism that the Congo's often-bloody political crisis "may be moving toward an end."

Soviet Exploitation

The alternative to U.N. intervention, he said, would have been "violence and chaos and a ready-made opportunity for Soviet exploitation — which the United States would have been compelled to counter."

"There was no alternative to limited intervention on the part of the United Nations if a direct confrontation of the great powers in the heart of Africa was to be avoided," Rusk said. "Thus, the United States strongly supported United Nations action in the Congo. Looking back, gentlemen, it seems obvious now that this was the right choice."

Closed Doors

Rusk testified behind closed doors before the Senate Foreign Relations' African Affairs subcommittee, but copies of his prepared statement were made public.

The secretary testified before a group whose members are sharply divided over the wisdom of U.N. military action against President Moise Tshombe's Katanga Province.

Agreement Seen

Rusk said Tshombe has indicated he would keep his agreement, reached at Kitona with central government Premier Cyrille Adoula. If he does, Rusk added, the crisis may be moving toward the day when both the Congolese and the United Nations can turn from military efforts to the "peaceful task of restoring the economy of one of the wealthiest countries in Africa."

The U.N. military role, he said, can be brought to an end with a political settlement on constitutional and other questions among the Congolese themselves "and through U.N. assistance with the training and organization of the Congo's own security forces."

Bill Would
Add Seats
To House

Special To The Daily Record

WASHINGTON — The possibility that the House of Representatives may yet be enlarged within the next several weeks was revived by Speaker John W. McCormack yesterday.

McCormack, at a news conference, said he favors enlarging the House along the plan earlier suggested by Rep. Francis E. Walter, Easton Democrat. Walter's bill calls for a four-seat increase. The Judiciary Committee was unable to agree on the bill last session and it was temporarily shelved.

The new speaker said that if Walter's bill comes up again he will support the proposal or any other proposal. McCormack's state, Massachusetts, is losing two of its 14 seats, while Pennsylvania is due to lose three seats through reapportionment.

In recent days there has been heavy pressure from Massachusetts' representatives to get the judiciary committee to take "immediate action." There is a possibility the committee may act this month.

Good Morning!

Information From Local High Schools

East Stroudsburg

By Barbara Kresge

HAROLD (Mach 1) Myers is going to Dallas! Our school and all of Monroe County is privileged to have a recipient of that honor. Myers was one of the first of the forty-four to be chosen to play in this All-American Bowl football game. Myers, along with about 3,000 others, was chosen by the sports writers and radio announcers in the United States. He was sent a questionnaire, after his selection, asking him if he wished to compete in the game. He is able to play in the game if he is given permission by his parents and his own choosing.

While Myers is there he is not able to talk to any of the sports recruits that attend. Then the Selection board or the Wigwag Wisemen, a sports group from Oklahoma City, select the top 44 to play in the football game on May 19. Academic grades as well as skill in the sport itself are a vital factor in choosing this team.

Myers leaves under the stipulation that his transportation, room, and board is paid for. He will fly down and register in one of the hotels. The only thing Myers must take is his uniform.

While he is in Dallas he will practice once in the morning and once in the afternoon. All is not labor though, the boys will be guests at dinners and taken to shows.

Here the ability of the boys from different parts of the country is matched. They are competing on the highest level of high school football. Myers will be an offensive halfback because of his tremendous running ability.

For playing in the game, he will receive the jersey he wore in the game and a 17 jewel watch.

Myers said, "One attribute to my success is the willingness and the unselfishness of each individual player on the team. Also without the dedication and constant probing of the coach. Myers added, "I owe much to my parents who have stood behind me in my sport ambitions."

ATTENTION! All music lovers! This year the concert of the All-State Chorus (Region Two) will be held in Stroudsburg. The dates are May 10, 11 and 12.

The chorus will be made up of high school boys and girls from the North Eastern and Eastern District Chorus. Approximately 140 students are mostly Juniors and Seniors.

The students will be lodged in private homes and given their meals at the SUHS cafeteria.

The guest conductor will be Dr. Paul Campbell, director of music at Penn State University.

The rehearsals will be on May 10 and 11, and the concert will be held on the 12th for the public in SUHS Gym.

Project "National Anthem" is now underway in Stroud Union High School. Under the direction of the social studies department with the cooperation of the English department, each student has been given a mimeographed sheet with "The Star Spangled Banner," "America," and the preamble to the Constitution typed on it.

More than 1,200 students are warbling "Oh say, can you see." Students memorizing the preamble are also hoping that this can be set to music. Teachers are laying down the law by making the memorization of the first and fourth verses of the national anthem compulsory, including the exact punctuation.

Obviously somewhere along the way some students have overlooked learning the national anthem. When asked to write the first verse of "The Star Spangled Banner," one unassuming Freshman boy entitled his work "The Star Spangled Banger." However, there are students who did considerably better than this with the national anthem, "America," and the preamble.

Grenade Kills 5 South Koreans

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A hand grenade explosion and an accident at a U.S. Army firing range killed five South Koreans yesterday.

National police said yesterday three school children perished Sunday when a hand grenade they were tinkering with exploded.

A U.S. Army spokesman said two men were killed apparently during a morning tank firing exercise Friday 30 miles northeast of Seoul.

Largest Suggestion Award Presented To Depot Pair

A $300 SUGGESTION award, the largest ever made at the Army Signal Corps depot in Tobyhanna, went Wednesday to two employees of the Photo Repair shop. Presentation was made in the post office's Club at a banquet celebrating the 79th anniversary of the U.S. Civil Service.

Sharing the award were Michael Yatzin, Dunmore, and Edwin Jarnicki, Old Forge. The idea, a special junction box to shop-test certain aerial cameras, will make it unnecessary to try these cameras under flight conditions. Several hundred aerial cameras in stock at the depot can now be tested without delay.

Also at the banquet, two employees received 'outstanding' performance ratings for their work during the past year. This highest civil service rating, given to only about three percent of the Federal work force, went to Mrs. Ruth Coffey, Gouldsboro, a secretary, and Allen Harvey, Tobyhanna, a tool, stock and partskeeper.

Cited for sustained superior performance were Jack Givings, Stroudsburg, an electronic and communication equipment inspector, and James Delmonte, Pittston, a timekeeper.

More than 100 employees from the depot, including some from the Veterans Administration in Wilkes-Barre and several area postal workers attended the banquet.

Principal Speaker

Principal speaker was Dr. Stephen Ryder, director of the Third U. S. Civil Service Region, Philadelphia. He traced the progress of the Federal civil service and said, "Our personnel management system now compares with the best in private industry."

He urged the office and division chiefs present to give "continued vigorous leadership in support of merit principles."

The Civil Service Act, which was signed into law by President Arthur on Jan. 16, 1883, established the merit system in Federal employment.

Other speakers were Depot Commander Col. L. W. Kale, and Civilian Personnel Officer Truman Newhart, Mt. Pocono.

Glenn Grubbs, Elmhurst, assistant to the commander, was master of ceremonies.

Three Deeds Filed At Court House

THREE deeds were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Baty, Monroe County register and recorder:

William J. and Helen V. Warke, Allentown, to Robert V. Semanski, Eugene E. Brode, Daniel Smith and Wayne C. Freudenberg, all of Tamaqua, property in Tunkhannock Township.

Pocono Lakeshore, Inc., to Regina A. Lynch and Bert Brown, Kingston, two properties in Monroe Lake Shores; Pocono Lakeshore, Inc., to William J. and Elizabeth A. Lockhart, Clark, N. J., property in Monroe Lake Shores.

Soviet Aiding Egyptians

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—The Soviet Union is providing Egypt with a number of medium bombers, the Maariv reported yesterday.

The Maariv story, which did not give a source, said the bombers are replacing older ones.

TEMPLE Israel will feature at its "Nite of Stars" show, Val Valenti, an established tenor who has appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show three times.

Valenti will entertain at the East Stroudsburg High School Auditorium on Jan. 31, 1962. He has performed before Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy, as well as the King and Queen of England.

Temple Israel will also present The Rogers, a dance team, Paul Draylin, with feats of magic; Bobby Carol, king of the bang; and Beau Jenkins, dance interpreter.

The program will be led by "Pvt. Papparelli" of Sgt. Bilko's Motor Platoon. "Papparelli" is Billy Sands, a comedian of proven talent. He will act as master of ceremonies for the night.

Tickets, now at a premium because of the limited seating capacity of the auditorium, may be obtained from members of Temple Israel.

Sen. Byrd Asks Finance Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said yesterday the administration had asked for a $10-million boost in the national debt limit. He demanded a broad investigation of the nation's financial position and got quick support from Republicans.

Byrd, longtime advocate of economy, said that Kennedy — through Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon — has requested an increase in the debt ceiling to a record-breaking $308 billion level. Byrd said he would go along with a temporary rise in the present $208-billion ceiling to $300 billion so the Treasury could pay its current bills.

TRAIL DATA — The Appalachian Trail in Delaware Water Gap, the first section of north to south route in Pennsylvania, begins at the Delaware River Bridge. A path south of the Toll House at the bridge leads to the trail which reaches the summit of Mt. Minsi. Mt. Minsi is some 1200 feet and is 2.7 miles from the bridge.

Appalachian Trail Little Known Here

By Tony Cesare
Daily Record Reporter

FAR AWAY places are the prime subjects for many people. School children learn of far off lands and vacationers plan trips to territories away from the immediate area. As a result, a number of local geographical landmarks remain unchallenged.

This also works in reverse and when a New York businessman inquired as to the whereabouts of the Delaware Water Gap section of the Appalachian Trail he could not find the answer. He questioned several natives, a number of resorts and others in the immediate area but could not learn the answer.

In a letter submitted to the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce, he stated "my observation on this point (knowing the location of the Trail) is that there are so few people who walk this trail over perhaps most of its entire length that the public in general is badly informed."

The letter was written by R.E. Gould, president of Buffalo China, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

This never-to-be-forgotten site appears to be forgotten.

Gould continued in his letter: "in fact it got to be kind of a joke to watch the people's faces when you asked about the Appalachian Trail. And it was quite evident that this was an unknown attraction in the entire neighborhood."

"In Stroudsburg, the hotel referred to is the Chamber of Commerce where we found that this was also combined with the Tourist Bureau which has a fair staff of people who were certainly interested but lacked information completely," Gould stated.

Written to Matos

The letter was written to Steven R. Matos, secretary of the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce.

In an effort to acquaint (or even re-acquaint) the people of the area on the Appalachian Trail, the Chamber of Commerce cooperated in putting together with data and information.

Chain Store Changes Plea

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Food Fair Stores, Inc., and Sidney Youson, a poultry buyer for the chain, have changed their pleas to guilty on a charge of ordering 500,000 counterfeit Grade A poultry inspection tags and labels in 1957. Judge Alfred L. Luongo, of United States District Court, put off sentencing Wednesday pending a probation report on Youson. The company says the government's charge resulted from "a purely innocent error on the part of one employee."

Mrs. Batory Likes Work; To Run Again

BY DON ALLEN
Daily Record Reporter

THE only woman ever to hold a full-time elective Monroe County office is a comely 45-year-old brunette who likes her work so well she plans to seek reelection.

Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory's accomplishment in winning the office of register of wills and recorder of deeds is all the more remarkable since she is a Republican — the only one elected to a county office in 1959.

"I thought they were out of their minds," she recalls now as she thinks back to the first suggestions that she should run for the post.

Jesse R. S. Flory, then burgess of East Stroudsburg, planted the germ of the idea after consulting with Mrs. Dorothy Cramer, vice chairman of the county GOP committee, and others.

The friends she consulted before making the decision were divided. Most favored her campaign; a few were doubtful. For some time, she agreed with the minority.

A native of the Cherry Valley area of Hamilton Township, she had long been active in civic affairs, but had never sought any political post.

The results are history. In the May primary, she defeated W. Adolph Rake, then a county commissioner, for the Republican nomination. And in November, she defeated Floyd W. Butz, the Democratic incumbent, who was seeking reelection to a fourth term.

One Of 8 Children

Mrs. Batory was the last of eight children of Edwin and Ida Kemmerer Fellenner. She was born June 12, 1916, attended local schools and was graduated from Stroudsburg High School and the nursing school of St. Luke's and Children's Hospital, Philadelphia.

While she was supervisor of pediatrics at Women's Hospital, Philadelphia, she met Dr. Roman J. Batory, whom she married in 1941. At this time, Dr. Batory was the chief resident physician at the hospital.

Dr. Batory went from Women's Hospital to the Hamburg, Pa., State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, where he spent a year, and then came to Stroudsburg to practice.

From 1953, when Dr. Batory came here, until her marriage to him in 1941, Mrs. Batory served as his office nurse and also was employed as a nurse at Monroe County General Hospital.

When her husband entered the Army Medical Corps during World War II, Mrs. Batory became the public health nurse for the Monroe County Chapter of the American Red Cross, a post she held for four years.

In 1946, her husband was discharged from service and she resigned her Red Cross post to become his office nurse again, although she remained on the Red Cross board of directors until 1961.

Mrs. Batory is a member of the executive board of the Monroe County Republican committee, the Monroe County General Hospital auxiliary, Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, Mt. Pocono Republican Council and West End Republican Club.

She is also a member of the executive council of the Stroud-burg Women's Club. She plays golf with an 18 to 21 handicap and is a member of Shawnee Country Club.

She is a past president of the Monroe County Society for Crippled Children and Adults and has been active in Community Chest campaigns and the March of Dimes, the latter particularly during World War II.

She is currently vice chairman of the Northeastern District of the Pennsylvania Register of Wills Assn. and makes it a point to attend all national Republican Women's conventions.

For the past several years, she has been invited annually to the meeting of the President's Committee for the Handicapped and plans to attend this year's session in Washington, D. C.

What did she think her chances were when she first made the decision to run?

"I never thought about it until 8 p.m. Election Day when the polls closed," she recalls. "Then I got scared."

She credits much of the support she received in her successful campaign to friends of her husband, who died in December, 1958. When she runs for reelection in 1963, she'll be able to count on a lot more friends—the ones she has made since she took office.

Frozen Assets

Every now and then, a Congressional staff adds up the value of the assets the Government owns scattered around the nation. They did this the other day, and came up with this answer: $282,932,000,000.

Then someone always comments that, you see, the United States isn't in such bad shape after all, because these assets almost equal the amount of the national debt. And, they add, if the books carried the real present worth of these assets, the total assets would exceed the total liabilities by some miles, and the U. S. would be considered ever-solvent by accounting standards.

True, the 16 acres on which the White House stands is carried as being worth $1,000, and the Hope Diamond which graces the Smithsonian Institution is listed at "no value." Other property is valued at the price paid when it was acquired, and inflation has run up the present value.

But all this property can't be used to offset the national debt of $293 billion. Very little could, in fact. The Hope Diamond is a gift, which the U.S. is not free to sell, and it's unlikely that the Kennedy family will be turned out of the White House and the acreage sold to Bill Zeckendorf for a shopping center and hotel development.

Very little of this vast accumulation of Government property produces any income. On the contrary, when the Government buys property it reduces income, because it automatically comes off the tax rolls.

On the other hand, taxpayers shell out millions each year to support these vast Federal holdings. The more the Government owns, the more expensive Government becomes.

In Congress now are proposals for acquiring vast new acreages in all parts of the country. Some are supposed to become national parks or recreation areas, and some are supposed merely to be withdrawn from productive use forever, without any more purpose than to preserve "wilderness."

Government assets are, essentially, frozen assets. We can't get along without a lot of them, but we ought to know why they must be limited.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Reliance On Government

Seeking solutions to a wide variety of problems, such as some of those which exist in Beaver County communities, municipal and state officials, representatives of civic groups and interested individuals recently attended a series of conferences with Federal government officials.

This series of meetings, called White House Regional Conferences, took place in a number of cities across the country during November. Experts in various government fields led the discussions.

Topics covered a wide range — economic growth, unemployment, retraining of workers to create more employment opportunities, community development, urban renewal, juvenile delinquency, education, recreation, surplus foods, minimum wages, and others. Some of these problems are present, to some degree, in most of our local communities.

Great good could come from conferences such as these. But there is also a great danger. There is a danger that many of the conferees, particularly those who represent government agencies, will urge that the federal government bear the main responsibility in attempting to solve the myriad problems involved. That was indicated in the recent statement by Pennsylvania's U. S. Sen. Joseph Clark that local communities no longer are able to solve their own problems without the help of the state and federal governments.

There has been a steady trend for many years toward relying more and more on a big and centralized federal government to take over problems at the local level. The result has been vast, and often wasteful and unnecessary, spending of untold billions, by the federal government, for projects of one kind or another. This, in turn has gradually but drastically weakened local rights, responsibilities and independence.

As a result, the welfare state concept is playing an ever larger role in government.

The Need For Management

Government is weak when men are appointed to administrative jobs who have had little or no administrative experience. The politician can serve to help someone be elected but that does not mean that he knows how to manage an important office or that he has a breadth of view which serves the country.

To cite a case Salvatore Anthony Bontempo was appointed to be Administrator of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs of the State Department, a position of outstanding significance.

A man appointed to such a position should have a broad view of the world, a knowledge of geography and of commerce, an understanding of espionage and the techniques of security. It turned out that Bontempo, before he was appointed and resigned, had no such experience.

He was a lawyer who had not practiced law; he had been a welder worker and a store in a warehouse in Newark and managed a company of his own, Miller and Bontempo, Inc. in Dayton, Ohio, which dealt in surplus war materials.

In May 1953, Bontempo, after returning to Newark, became a City Commissioner and eventually Director of the Division of Veteran Services, New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development. In 1958, he became Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

What all these political jobs have to do with training for the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs of the State Department, it is hard to say.

If a top FBI or Secret Service or long-experienced consular service man were appointed to this position, it could be understood. That position has to do with immigration, passports, the proper conduct of consular offices, the operations of foreign spies against the United States.

Bontempo was apparently appointed because he was an active and effective politician in Newark. Be that as it may, he had no prior training to serve in this office. It is further reported that Bontempo was appointed because he is an Italian-American.

It is very dangerous for this country for men to be appointed because of racial or religious relationships. There has been too much of this in municipal, State and local appointments and the time has come to oppose this because it is definitely antagonistic to American principles.

The purpose of this account is not particularly to call attention to Bontempo but rather to emphasize the need for a reorganization not only of the State Department but of the entire federal organization which has grown in size and character since the beginning of World War II and which requires immediate reorganization.

Two Presidents have appointed Herbert Hoover and very effective commissions to accomplish such a reorganization. President Kennedy's father was a member of such a Commission and the Attorney General, Robert Kennedy, served on one of the Commissions.

It is about time that the Executive Branch of government be reorganized so that it functions efficiently and in the best interest of the American people.

It is clear that the Civil Service, the Foreign Service Officers and tenure, while intended to safeguard public servants from politicians, have not served to safeguard the people against improper appointments.

Once a fellow gets himself on the Civil Service or the Foreign Service the interest of the people may be sacrificed to his selfish purposes. This then is the real peril of political appointments.

It is not so much that these persons are put on jobs but that it becomes increasingly difficult to get rid of them. After a while, it is impossible to get rid of them because they have established tenure.

I have heard for many months that the Eastland Committee was engaged in investigating this question. Time after time, it is suggested that on a certain date, public hearings will be held by that Committee.

Each time, the date is postponed. In its stead, there is a secret hearing, but the so-called Executive Session passes like a whisper in the wind. The latest news is that the Eastland Committee fears the very great power of Senator Fulbright. This may not be so at all. It may simply be passing the buck.

The public wants to know what the facts are and delay is intolerable. Enough of the data is available so that it can be forced out. The public has a right to know and those who are suppressing the truth should be disclosed and undoubtedly will be.

The 'Yeller' Pages?

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Reporter's Notebook:

"Reapportionment Express"—"The train leaves the station promptly at noon on Monday," was the way one top legislative leader the other day summed up the time of convening of the Legislature in Special Session to enact legislation regrouping Pennsylvania's 30 congressional districts into 27.

That's the time of course the Governor set when he issued his special session proclamation—and around Capitol Hill, because of the minimal five days expected to enact the legislation, the session next week already has been dubbed the "congressional reapportionment express"—somewhat fittingly, it might be added.

Perhaps the most amusing part of the "train trip" has been the reaction of those predestined to "miss" the ride, that is, those congressmen from Pennsylvania slated to lose their present districts and pit them

(in effect) against each other to see who wins in November. . . . No one around Capitol Hill on either side of the political fence expected the "victims" to readily accede to the proposals—regardless of who was destined to be shut out. . . . Suffice it to say there was no disappointment on this score. . . . Not unlike noble martyrs, for the most part they duly complained about becoming victims, and of course—"the bitter injustice of it all."

"Galloping Ghosts"—If nothing else, the gubernatorial campaign of the galloping ghosts—in honor of the healthy swatch of gubernatorial potentials or would-be trotters who have yet to announce their candidacy, but for whom booming (it needs moving) "grass roots" campaigns are in full swing.

For the most part this inner-springing of gubernatorial hopefuls is to be found in Republican ranks—unquestionably a sign that Keystone State elephant riders feel they have at least a hair-splitting chance of emerging the victor this year after nearly eight years of solid GOP rider rein. . . . On the GOP side, four have announced their "availability" while an equal number are stumbling around coyly in the back woods.

On the Democratic side, no one has uttered a peep other than Democratic Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth, who has announced with proper tootling of bugles and what-not his intention to resign February 20 as mayor—for what reason of course no one could ever guess! . . . (Once he announces formally as a candidate, under city charter, he must immediately turn in his mayoralty suit and badge) . . . It is taken for granted around Capitol Hill that the gent from the City of Brotherly Love unquestionably will emerge as the Democratic candidate.

The stalwart One!—On the subject of gubernatorial hopefuls (somewhat in contrast) here's one who says flatly he is not a candidate for the governorship, will not be a candidate, and for that matter—can't even available!

The "unusual" politico in this case? . . . State Senator Z. H. (Dick) Confair, who represents the 24th senatorial district Lycoming, Montour, Columbia and Sullivan counties) . . . In an aside to this column the other day he insisted he is interested only in seeking another senatorial term. . . . Capitol Hill reports fairly consistently had placed Confair as a "possible" for one of the statewide spots, to which the well-known mid-state soft drink bottler replied (appropriately): "Fizz it—I'm quite happy as a senator, and the good folks back home willing, I hope to continue in that vein."

Early, Early Birds — Some Capitol Hill workers are really getting to work early these days—in fact at the present rate some are threatening to arrive under the cover of darkness. . . . Reason: two-thirds of a city block heretofore used for Capitol Hill workers has been closed off—to make way for the new $10 million State Museum and Archives Building. . . . For the remaining third of the block it's strictly a first-come-first-served (parked) basis—and for once an awful lot of Hill workers are getting to work on time, or perhaps more properly put, "before time."

Washington, Jan. 19: Ambassador deLesseps S. Morrison, U. S. representative to the Organization of American States (OAS), is responsible for the hardening of the position the U. S. will take toward Cuba at the Foreign Ministers' conference which opens in Punta del Este, Uruguay, on Monday.

Supported by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs Robert Woodward, Ambassador Morrison is waging a vigorous battle to have the U. S. put pressure on the OAS to order automatic sanctions against Castro's regime unless he breaks ties with the Communist powers within sixty days.

He won President Kennedy's backing for the "tough" policy

The Allen-Scott Report

Tough U. S. Policy Toward Cuba Possible

with one major restriction. The President stipulated that the former New Orleans mayor must line up the support of 14 nations, or two-thirds of the OAS members, prior to next week's conference.

At this writing, Morrison has 13 affirmative votes, including that of the U. S. He is hopeful of obtaining the clinching vote from Uruguay over the week-end. The President's decision on the tough Cuban policy was made at a White House meeting despite the strong opposition of Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Richard Goodwin and Special Assistant to the President Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.

The Goodwin-Schlesinger team opposed the U. S. call for sanctions on the ground that it would be unwise to seek them, since Brazil and Mexico take the position that they will oppose such a drastic quarantine. Also, they argued that it was doubtful Argentina, Ecuador and Bolivia would support such a hard line. Instead, they proposed that the U. S. back a compromise resolution calling on Cuba to sever her ties with the Communist world and return to the Inter-American system. If the Castro regime refused, the U. S. would seek another OAS meeting later in the year to take more drastic action.

Double Standard—Ambassador Morrison countered this proposal by calling it "meaningless" and "a mere slap on Castro's wrist." He warned that if the OAS didn't vote sanctions against Cuba, the organization would be setting up a double standard since it has already applied sanctions against the Dominican Republic. He argued that the U. S. had rightfully condemned the double-standard approach in the United Nations and must not be party to any similar policy in the OAS.

"I look on the OAS as a United Nations of Latin America," Morrison said. "If that organization doesn't take strong action against Castro's Communist regime, people of the U. S. will lose confidence in it. If that happens, it can lead to new pressure from Congress and the public for the U. S. to take unilateral action."

He argued that now is the time to get the OAS to adopt a three-pronged action against Cuba that includes: (1) A moral indictment of the Castro regime; (2) requirement of mandatory severance of relations with Cuba by all nations in the OAS, if 14 nations, or two-thirds, vote to break relations; (3) apply sanctions if Castro refuses to sever his ties with the Sino-Soviet bloc and cancel 72 agreements with the bloc within 60 days.

Both groups of officials have been pulling strings in Congress for support of their proposals. Secretary Rusk and Ambassador Morrison have contacted members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee urging them to back a resolution supporting sanctions.

On the other hand, Schlesinger has been on the phone urging senators not to bring out the resolution on the eve of the conference, on the ground that some OAS members would resent that kind of pressure.

The clash by the two factions has deadlocked the Committee. Note: As a private citizen, and during his 15 years as Mayor of New Orleans, Ambassador Morrison made more than 60 good-will trips to Latin America. He has 16 decorations from Latin American governments.

More on Cuba — The Internal Revenue Service is telling donors to the newest tractor-for-prisoners-in-Cuba committee that their donations will be tax deductible. The group, formed by relatives of prisoners, has raised $300,000. They hope to increase that to $2 million in the next six months in order to make a down payment on $21 million worth of heavy-duty machines. A U. S. manufacturing firm has agreed to give them 10-year credit terms. The tractors, if the U. S. government permits, will be used to ransom the 1,130 prisoners taken by Castro during the ill-fated Cuban invasion. . . . George Kennan, U. S. Ambassador to Yugoslavia, has reported to Secretary Rusk that Tito is supporting Castro's program of "Communist revolutions" in Latin America. . . . Senator Strom Thurmond, D., S.C., in a little-publicized but very significant speech in the Senate this week, called on all members to support the new hard-line policy on Cuba, saying: "Many of us have criticized President Kennedy for the decision not to provide the vital air cover required for the victory in the Cuban invasion. Now that he proposes to take a strong stand in favor of a moral indictment of the Castro regime, severance of relations by all OAS countries and applications of actions against the Communist dictatorship through the OAS, he merits the full support of the Senate."

Dear Abby

I'm With You!

Dear Abby: How does a 17-year-old high school boy get his parents to realize he is not 2 years old? Last Saturday night I came home later than I said I would. It wasn't my fault. The kid who owned the car wanted to go for a ride and I couldn't get home without him. When I got home, my folks had all but called the cops looking for me. I was only an hour and ten minutes late. It's all over school and I feel like a baby. My parents have grounded me for a whole month. I gave them my word if they let me off this time it would never happen again. They refused. Don't you think the punishment is unfair or too stiff?

GROUNDING

Dear Abby: If you told the truth, the discipline is excessive. If you lied, you are getting off easy. Personally, I believe your story.

Dear Abby: My sister and I would like to know why some men never get married. We know several bachelors who are from 35 to 60. They are very nice men, but if they go with a girl for a while and she gets serious, they quit.

IRS Seeks Highway Use Tax Returns

DISTRICT Director R. P. Brownell of the Scranton Internal Revenue District announced a district-wide campaign by the Internal Revenue Service to make sure that owners of heavy trucks and busses have filed Federal Highway Use Tax returns covering the use of such equipment on the public highways.

Brownell said that the Internal Revenue Service has gone to great lengths to obtain voluntary compliance with the Highway Use Tax filing requirements before resorting to enforcement measures. Various informational and publicity programs have been undertaken to acquaint owners of trucks and busses with the filing requirements so that they can avoid liability for penalties and interest, in addition to the tax, for failure to file or for late filing.

PUC Agrees To Pennsy Request

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad received Public Utility Commission authorization yesterday to discontinue on 15 days' notice less than carload freight business at its station in Troy, Bradford County.

The small volume of such shipments does not justify continuance of the service, the PUC said. Carload freight service will continue and the station agent will remain on duty.

Water Rationing

SINGAPORE (AP)—Water rationing, in effect on this drought-ridden island since last summer, may end next month if reservoirs reach their normal levels. The government said it all depends on monsoon rains.

Tags On Plumbing Lines Is Big Help To Plumber

TO MOST people, the basic plumbing system is the least noticed and understood essential facility of the home. When any trouble does develop, the homeowner too often is frantic and angry at himself.

Of course, he can't be expected to cope with major problems that arise in the system, but he can easily acquaint himself with how to handle small troubles and what to do in the event of a serious one until the plumbing contractor arrives.

To meet any problem without delay, you should be thoroughly familiar with the plumbing lines and shut-off valves in your home. If, for instance, a sudden break occurs in an old pipe, serious damage and inconvenience can be avoided by knowing how and where to turn off the water supply.

Also, all other utility services in your home have accessible shut-off devices for use when trouble arises or when repair/replacement work must be performed.

Every member of the family should be drilled on where all of these shutoffs are located and how they may be easily operated.

For quick and accurate identification, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau suggests tagging each valve and painting the piping in distinctive colors.

Re-Paint House Entrance

WHEN the exterior of a house begins to look shabby, it's a good idea to spruce up the entrance area first. The entranceway is important because that's where guests and passerby get their first impression of a house.

A new panel door in an authentic Colonial design is one way to add beauty and dignity to the entrance. Panel doors of ponderosa pine are available in stock sizes and a variety of designs from building materials dealers.

Sash doors — panel doors with glass lights — are particularly popular since they admit light and provide a view of the outdoors even when the door is closed.

Complete entranceways of ponderosa pine also are available.

Latest Style In Windows

THIS new "cottage style" window is ideal for home owners who prefer Colonial architecture but also want the gracious, spacious feeling of large modern windows. It is available, ready to stain or paint and install, from local building material dealers.

Waste Disposer Prevents Clogging Of Drain Line

WITH an automatic garbage disposal unit installed on your sink, you'll never again have to be concerned with a clogged drain line, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

The swirling water action of the waste, plus the pumping action "scours" the drain line each time the unit is used. As a matter of fact, most disposer manufacturers recommend that you don't use a drain-clearing solvent. In the first place, you won't need to, and secondly, the special chemicals in such solvents could damage the disposers.

Constantly clearing the sink drain line is an often unrealized advantage of a modern waste dis-poser. The well-known benefits include: a cleaner, more sanitary kitchen; no garbage odors from conventional accumulation in the kitchen; no unnecessary trips outside to a garbage can, and no bacteria-laden cans that cause odors and bring insects and rodents.

To grind and flush away food waste, simply turn on the cold water and flip a switch. Even bones are quickly shredded and flushed down the drain.

Many different easily installed models are available to fit any sink drain. A good plumbing contractor can offer expert advice on which unit is best for your needs.

Simple Care Prevents Trouble

DID YOU know that just by flushing hot water down your kitchen and bathroom drains each day you can usually prevent clogging?

There are many simple steps a person can take to avoid plumbing trouble throughout the house. Bearing age, a good plumbing system installed by a competent plumbing contractor will give trouble only when the householder forgets, or is unaware, that the system should get the same consideration and simple maintenance he gives his automobile.

An authoritative booklet titled "Plumbing Care and Repair" is available for ten cents. It contains a wealth of tips on how to prevent plumbing trouble and what to do if something does go wrong. Write to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Illinois.

The booklet covers twenty categories — everything from drains, fittings and water closets to thawing and preventing frozen pipes, noises in the plumbing system and draining the plumbing in a vacant house.

A few included suggestions: Use a "plumber's friend," a plunger, to clear simple clogged drain lines. And periodically check the U-trap below sinks and lavatories for any potentially clogging materials.

If the water closet tank fills too much or not enough, try bending the rod attached to the metal tank float upward or downward.

An uneven shower spray can probably be remedied by removing the face of the shower head, cleaning its back and freeing the holes with a coarse needle.

The best way to thaw frozen pipes is to wrap heavy cloths soaked in hot water around the pipes.

Investment

MOST families would rather own a $30,000 house and a small car than a $15,000 house and a large car. Why? Hard goods, like automobiles, depreciate rapidly in dollar value. Putting money into a home, on the other hand, is a long-term investment. A home that is properly maintained retains its dollar value and is an excellent hedge against inflation.

Extra Sink Handy

THE BASIC idea behind any good house is comfort and convenience.

One of the better features of a home is well-placed sanitary facilities — not just enough bathrooms, but sinks and lavatories wherever they are most convenient to all members of the family.

Consider sinks. What man hasn't wished for one in the garage or workshop? What mother hasn't wished for a "mud room" in the garage or utility room to get the children cleaned up before they tramp through the dog? And don't forget the dog. What better place to bathe him than in the mud room?

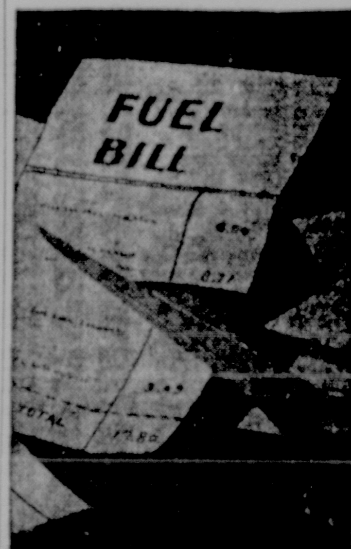

Another prime location for a sink is the patio. Think of the ease in preparing cook-outs. It's handy, too, for thirsty children at play.

Perhaps your needs include a sink in the family or recreation room for entertaining.

There is a modern sink for every purpose in any style you desire. Most of them are available with swinging spout and thumb-controlled hose spray, and an aerator nozzle to minimize splashing by mixing air with the water.

There is even more latitude for putting in extra lavatories. Whatever the space requirements, large or small, one of today's varied and beautiful models will satisfy the need.

Insulation Slashes Costs Of Heating

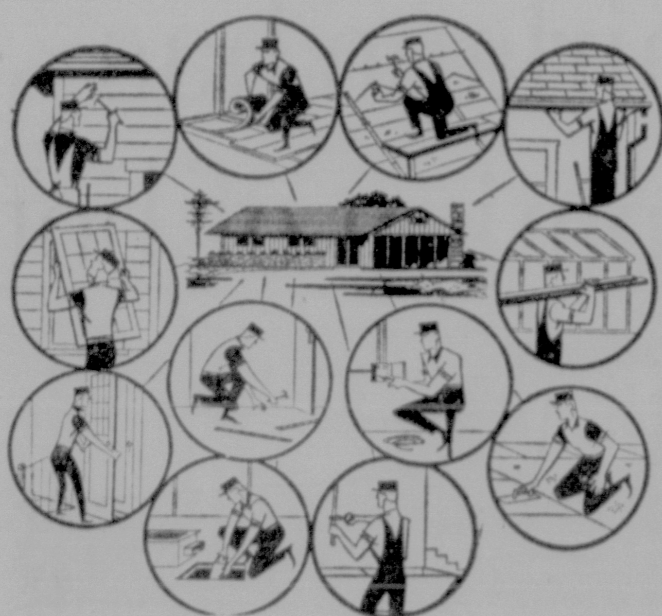

EVERY homeowner dreams of cutting his fuel bill, and many actually do it, adding year-round comfort to their homes at the same time. This dream-come-true is the result of fully insulating walls, floors, and ceilings with mineral wool. It keeps heat indoors in winter, out in summer, saving as much as 40 per cent on fuel costs. The savings pay for the mineral wool in a few heating seasons and then can be pocketed by the home owner.

DECEPTIVE SPLIT — Though its straight ridge roof is deceiving, this actually is a side-to-side split on no less than six levels. The roof has been extended over to provide expansion room for a fourth bedroom and bath. Brick panels and balconies also give the home a fresh appearance.

Split-Level Has Attic Expansion

By JULES LOH

GROWING families and tight budgets seem, inexorably, to go together. This handsome three-bedroom home with an expansion attic — an entirely new concept in split-level design — should help ease the strain.

Its straight ridge roof makes the home look from the outside, like a two story, or perhaps one of the new bi-level designs. Actually it is a side-to-side split with no less than six levels.

Designed by architect Rudolph A. Matern, the house is No. J-2 in the House of the Week series.

"By extending the roof line over the living level," said Matern, "I was able to provide 517 additional square feet of expansion room which many homeowners can finish off themselves at half the cost."

If finished in the manner Matern suggests, the house would then contain four bedrooms and three and one-half baths. The new bedroom would be a huge 15 foot by 12 foot 6 inch opening onto a side balcony, plus a dressing alcove with an oversized closet, and a two-lavatory bath — in addition to an off-season storage area the full width of the living level.

This split is different from the usual type in another respect, too. In this one, the lower grade level contains the foyer, kitchen and dining room which usually are found on the living level.

A two-car garage (plus shop, lavatory and laundry room) is on the slab level, and the basement is a half flight down, beneath the foyer, dining room and kitchen.

Such efficient use of space results in the entire house occupying only 1,210 square feet of ground cover in dimensions of 21 feet, one inch deep by 49 feet, 9 inches wide — small enough for an 80-foot lot. The area of the bedroom level is 665 square feet.

Additional Details

Outdoor living areas are so well integrated in this home that even each bedroom has access to a balcony — a private one for the master bedroom. A sun deck also adjoins the living level, entered through sliding glass doors from both the living room and study. A rear terrace is on the grade level, separated from the breakfast room by sliding glass doors; and a covered porch is fitted nicely in the kitchen-dining room corner.

The kitchen contains a number of unusual features. In addition to its 16 foot, 11 inch by 10 foot four inch size. Note the location of the double sink, and also the uncommon amount of counter space. Cabinet space also is plentiful, in fact there are 31 and one-half linear feet of base and wall cabinets.

The family room is well placed a few steps above the kitchen and overlooking the backyard through an entire wall of windows, and a soundproof wall divides it from the study.

Another well placed room is the lavatory, located in the small hallway between the foyer and kitchen. It is convenient also to the living room and, with its large vanity, serves as an excellent powder room for guests.

Closet space is abundant throughout the house. The master bedroom has two closets, one of them especially large, and both the other bedrooms have oversized closets. The linen closet is convenient to the main bath (note the corner tub), and there is a cabinet outside bedroom No. 3 "for the linen closet overflow," as architect Matern put it.

All in all, the house is a well-ordered innovation which provides an exceptional amount of livability with numerous touches of luxury in a modest amount of space.

J-2 STATISTICS

Low Cost Can Be Very Costly

ASIDE from the patriotic ideal of shoring up our nation's economy, it makes good sense to use only American-made plumbing equipment.

For one thing, says the Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, you're assured of consistent high quality in American equipment.

Equally as important is our nationwide standardization of specifications. With imported plumbing products, you may find replacement of moving parts difficult, if not impossible.

Indoor-Outdoor Thermostat

THE ideal home temperature is the one you don't notice—not too warm, not too cool, and constant for a particular living area.

Even the best indoor thermostats can't take into account the changing outside temperature. And, of course, it's the fluctuating outside temperature that makes heat changes necessary in the home.

A special type of thermostat installed on the outside of a house, though, eliminates the usual lag between need for heat and satisfaction.

Wide Overhang

ROOFS with wide overhangs add beauty to a home as well as protect siding from weathering and windows from rain streaks.

Stain First
YOU'LL find it easier to stain wood panels before they are attached to the wall rather than after they are erected. Place the panels on a pair of saw horses and then apply the stain according to label directions. It's a good idea to stain all edges as well as the front. In this way, any subsequent shrinkage of the wood will not expose unfinished wood.

Save Dollars
ARE YOU planning to panel a room this winter? Are you going to paint the paneling? If so, you'll save money by buying Grade D vertical grain or flat grain Douglas fir. This finish grade offers excellent serviceability, but is intended for paneling and cabinet work which will be painted.

Wood Scarce
U.S. VISITORS to European countries are surprised at the predominance of stone and masonry dwellings. Europeans use stone and brick out of necessity, not choice, for almost all softwoods like Douglas fir used in construction must be imported and are too costly for the average Continental home.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

For once the weather jinx relented on the Historical Society meeting night, and they had a wonderful turnout for the dinner. So big, in fact, that the trombone choir had a little maneuvering to do for fear they'd um-pah somebody's hat right off into the coffee.

Even four trombones making a very respectable volume and there was no tendency to doze after dinner. Not that they would have, anyway, in as much as the speaker was very listenable.

And our weather, while cold, has been light enough to be almost pleasant, which gives us stuck-at-homes a chance to snicker at the cold spell which hit our southern soul burners last week. A letter from Gwendys Carpenter of Portland, Miss., let us in on some of the doings. With freezing rain, sleet, and snow and no cinder trucks, everything ground to a total halt.

She also inclosed a column by a Virginia Woodward, whom she called "The Bobby Westbrook of Hattiesburg," describing the homemade sleds the children of Hattiesburg rigged up—with some ingenuity, since they'd never seen or had occasion to use the real thing.

However, we can stop snickering now. By the time Mrs. Carpenter wrote it was 70 with the windows open in Hattiesburg. Not sleds but ice skates are the order of the day around here, judging by the number jingling around the necks of kids after school.

Which reminds me: how come it got to be Friday so fast, this week?

Present World Better For Other-Worldly Moravians, Speaker Tells Historians

A trombone choir, beeswax candles in Moravian candlesticks, and the speaker all reminded members of the Monroe County Historical Society that people more concerned with the new world often do things better in this world.

A record audience turned out for the annual dinner meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel to hear Dr. John R. Weinlick, professor of Religion at Moravian College, tell about the history of the Moravian Church with particular reference to this section.

The trombone choir, which still announces deaths of members of the congregation from the balcony of the church in Bethlehem, had its echo at the meeting when four musicians: John Pyle, Robert Zellner, Keith Swales and Ralph Harrison, played Bach chorales, typical of the era, in special arrangements for their trombone quartet.

Awed or Deafened? Legend has it, Dr. Weinlick, said that it was the trombone choir playing on Christmas morning in 1755 that caused the Indians preparing to attack Bethlehem to slink away. It was to bring the gospel to the Indians that the Moravians came to this area: settling Nazareth in 1740 and Bethlehem in 1741. Count Ludwig von Zinzendorf, sponsor of the Communities in America, himself made a trip to set up a mission to the Indians in the Stroudsburg area before 1743.

The Moravian Church, itself, predates the Reformation, rising in Bohemia and Moravia following the martyrdom of John Huss in 1415. Dr. Weinlick said, in outlining its history, and was founded on study of the Bible, simplified form of worship, strict discipline and schools.

Incorporated in the Pietist movement of 1670, the first Moravian community was founded by Zinzendorf in Germany in 1722. It included many refugees from Moravia. It was the prototype of some 20 communities including Bethlehem.

Organized under a communal system, the joint community included both Nazareth and Bethlehem with six large farms and 30 industries which grew to 50 by the Revolution, he said. The Communities varied from the usual frontier towns by virtue of its high cultural life, he pointed out.

Not only were they a select group of religious people but out of a community of 600, there were 50 "pilgrims" or missionaries to surrounding country. Predominantly German, they brought with them the music of Bach, and Mozart and a rich musical heritage. A world-wide church, there was a constant exchange of ideas and of personnel.

At a service in 1755, for instance, one hymn was sung in 13 languages "and three didn't sing" which would have added three more languages.

Dr. Weinlick traced the history of the Indian missions, one at Lehighton destroyed in the Indian massacre of 1755; Kunkietown and Stroudsburg evacuated to Bethlehem because of Indian unrest; one in Ohio abandoned when 90 Christian Indians were massacred in cold blood by the Army in 1772.

The history of the noble experiment was a tragic one, Dr. Weinlick said, but was a testimony to Christian principles often neglected today; the disciplined Christian life; the integration of races; their zeal and cultural level.

Buildings Still Sound

"In Bethlehem, now engaged in restoration, we are discovering that the houses built by the Moravians two centuries ago are still sound," he said. "They were built by men who believed they were not long for this world but they built well—better than we who live for today."

Robert Haigh, president, presided at the meeting introducing the newly elected officers and members and special guests, Dr. Alfred D. Sumberg, regional advisor to the Junior Historians, presented a gift book, "Pennsylvania's Best" to Charlene Ackerman for East Stroudsburg High School and to John Krause for Stroud Union.

It is expected that both Pocono Mountains and Pleasant Valley high schools will be included next year.

Horace Walters, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Rev. P. N. Wohlson, D. D. gave the invocation and benediction. Miss Bess Gardner was pianist.

The Wyckoff Shopper "the friendly store" A.B. Wyckoff STROUDSBURG, PA.

One of today's happiest tasks was writing notes to the winners of our 25th annual Wyckoff Art Show and enclosing their checks. Makes me feel like Lady Bountiful, yet wretchedly poor by contrast.

Have you seen our show? DON'T miss it! If you have low blood pressure (and feel very deeply about art), I'm sure some of the judges' decisions will raise it to normal. If you have high blood pressure, and stop by for a few peaceful moments of casually viewing all the beautiful landscapes and still lifes our artists have portrayed, you'll doubtless find it relaxing and soothing. And if you desire nothing but a few moments of socializing with fellow artists or critics, it's a safe bet you'll find them here. EVERYONE'S coming in . . . and opinions are flying faster than snowballs when school's dismissed because of a blizzard.

Mentioning blizzards reminds me that weather is a terribly tricky subject. If, during a Wyckoff radio program, I mention that it's raining, it's almost sure to stop before signoff. If I say it's marvelous outside . . . springlike with sunshine and balmy breezes . . . I emerge into a gale and gray skies. This being true, the very word "blizzard" in the paragraph above practically assures fair skies today.

However, winter being winter, one must be prepared for cold . . . and one of the smartest ways is with plenty of warm, beautiful sweaters such as we have in both our Girls' and Sportswear departments with the prices slashed down to here!

On the sweater table in our Girl's department, for instance, I found some bulky orlons in dramatic horizontal folds of Red, White, and Navy, with straight-slash neckline, marked down from 7.98 to 4.99, sizes S, M, and L. The same sweater comes in Brown, Tan, and White combination at the same slashed price.

I also discovered a beautiful, fleecy Jantzen, rather Scandinavian in its pattern, marked from 8.98 to 4.99. The color is blue, in two pretty shades, with green. The size is 8, I believe.

Further rummaging produced a Vogueester of bulky knit with jewel neckline, small size, marked from 6.98 to 4.99. This sweater comes in Aqua, Blue, and White. These are, of course, only a few of the many, many sweaters to be discovered on the clearance table.

In Sportswear, I found two wonderful slipovers in size 38. Both are of fleecy Angelon by Darlene. One has a neckline with self-tie effect that's very attractive; the other has the suggestion of a V-yoke with a snugly fitted, high collar. The first is an indescribable shade of blue . . . the other, a rosy red that imparts a sense of joy and well-being. One was marked down from 15.98 to 10.99, the other from 16.95 to 10.99.

There are other sweaters on that table too, marked from 9.98 to 5.99; 4.98 to 3.99; 14.98 to 8.99; and 9.95 to 5.99. Any one of them would be an excellent buy for the woman who wears sweaters . . . lots of sweaters . . . for the sake of both style and warmth.

But why should I tell you? Unless you've seen them for yourself, along with all the other clearance items throughout our store, you haven't REALLY shopped Wyckoff's.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, January 19, 1962
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Alternating friendly and less favorable influences. First concentrate on essentials, but also consider upcoming matters. Some silence is good for this, seeking energies.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Fourteen old but not forgotten, your bright mind and talents should be busy at the many activities and interests offered now and at which you can succeed. But avoid over-creating.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Completely up to you whether you will make a success or just waste today. After forethought and careful plans, you can make quick work, though it may be difficult getting started.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — If dilatory during past week, you may be crowded now. Keep the good attitudes, but get at much done as reasonable (less strain with a smile); plan some duties for tomorrow.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Overdoing, oversteering, overstraining all are temptations. If you know where in you may be falling prey, recognize it, philosophically take hold, and simple things offer best benefits.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — The spirit will direct. Review where you are heading, and how? Excitability takes longer. Counter with peace of mind, inner and outdoor composure, wherein joy shines.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — There is beauty in humbleness and things and these Libra often find the secret to contentment and real success many overlook. Remember this now when rules, new formula tend to cause tension.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — When you feel the impulse to do something extra, mind not necessary, but the little things that come to your mind yet are often forgotten by many, don't let them slip away. Do them now.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Note Scorpio your inclinations quite similar. Add: The will to achieve that new or additional chore or project must come from the inner you. Control tendencies.

December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Adequate is not enough, there will be spots and conditions that require more vigor, longer striving, and you are indeed able. Travel, meetings, daily chores ask for extra care.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — To master and direct your own abilities, is a life-long task and wonderful privilege. Never let your talents slip down. Don't be satisfied with the ordinary. Consider fresh offerings.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Others will copy your efforts, take this as a compliment. Remember that who hinders his talents, and gained no more, and the one who spread his to receive many in return.

YOU BORN TODAY are directly at the change of Signs and inherit traits from both Capricorn and the incoming Aquarius. There is rarely an endeavor you find too difficult (even though you feel pressed at times), because you accept work and responsibilities as natural. Move power to this and your many sensible ways! Don't strain, plan your day, and laugh off any fanciful ideas, or worse, of women's fashions, molder of metal, sculptors, organization heads.

Cage Sell-Out In Making Tuesday

THE EAST Stroudsburg High-Pocono Mountain basketball game at East Stroudsburg Tuesday, has the making of a sell-out, something rare in area scholastic basketball lately.

The teams are running one-two in the Pocono-Slate Belt basketball league, with the Cardinals a few rating points ahead of East Stroudsburg.

Pocono will carry a 7-3 mark into the game, with one of the losses a 51-48 overtime defeat by East Stroudsburg last Tuesday.

The Cavaliers will have either a 5-4 or 4-5 mark going into Tuesday's action, depending on the outcome of the Pen Argyl game.

There were almost 700 people on hand for the first meeting of the Cards and Cavaliers and some 800 fans watched East Stroudsburg battle Stroud Union last month, which shows that local games are still the best money makers.

Millersville Loses On Rare Call

Elizabethtown scored a 65-64 basketball win over Millersville Wednesday night on one of the strangest plays of the year.

With the score tied 64-all, Millersville called a timeout just as the game ended. However, it was Millersville's sixth timeout, one more than the allotted number and the Marauders were tagged with a technical foul. Barry Moyer sank the technical foul try after the game had ended, giving Elizabethtown the victory.

When Penn defeated St. Joe's 66-60 Wednesday for the first time since 1946, former Palmyer coach Ray Carazo added 12 points to the winner's total.

Dick Harlow, former Harvard football coach and summer Pocono resident, is in satisfactory condition in a Bethesda, Md., hospital.

A hospital doctor says Harlow has a circulatory ailment. The 72-year-old Harlow has been hospitalized since Jan. 4.

Penn State Plays Orange at Home

Penn State's 1962 football squad is scheduled for home games against Navy, Air Force, Syracuse, West Virginia and Maryland. Jack Lockwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lockwood of Brodheadsville, is a member of the unbeaten varsity basketball team at Westminster College.

Stroud Union's Warren Loney has had several college scholarship offers including a feller from the Coast Guard Academy. Loney earned letters in football, basketball and baseball last year and should repeat that feat this year.

Pocono High has mercury vapor lights in its gymnasium that require 15 minutes to warm-up before they can be used.

Roberts Signs Yank Pact For Admitted Small Cut

NEW YORK (AP)—Robin Roberts, once the best pitcher in baseball, signed a $30,000 contract with the New York Yankees Thursday for about half the salary he commanded when he was winning 20 or more games regularly with the Philadelphia Phillies.

The 35-year-old right-hander, purchased from the Phils last Oct. 16, admitted he took a slight cut from last year's earnings. "I know I am still pitch and I know I am going to be better,"

he said, "I can't tell you why because I don't intend to pitch any differently, but I just know I'm going to be better."

Roberts won just one game last season against 10 defeats. His misery was increased by a leg injury which put him on the disabled list for a month.

He refused to go along with the common belief that his iron man pitching schedule with the Phils—worked 300 or more innings a season for six consecutive years—had taken its toll of his once mighty arm. "I think I was just forcing myself last year," he said. "There's nothing wrong with my arm."

Loop Games Top Local Cage Card

LEAGUE games dominate tonight's local scholastic basketball card. Every team except Pocono Mountain is in action and all are playing league games. Pocono's games with Nesquehoning was postponed until March because of sickness at Nesquehoning.

Stroud Union travels to Palmyer for a Lehigh Valley League game tonight. East Stroudsburg hosts Pen Argyl and Nazareth is at Bangor in Lehigh-Northampton League games while Southern Wayne is at Wallenpaupack and Delaware Valley goes to Lake Ariel in the Wayne County League.

In Black Diamond League action, Pleasant Valley entertains Jim Thorpe.

There are two girls' basketball games. Defending league champ Pen Argyl is at Bangor in the L-N League and Stroud Union travels to Palmyer.

In swimming, East Stroudsburg meets Wilson at the Easton YMCA.

Stroud Union is looking for its first league victory tonight. The Mounties have dropped four league games and have a 2-7 over-all mark.

Missed Chance
The Mounties had a strong chance to whip Northampton Tuesday but Warren Loney, who had been averaging 21 points a game, was limited to only two free throws.

The Mounties have also been handicapped by the lack of experienced reserves.

East Stroudsburg had to whip Pen Argyl to hold on to second place in the Pocono-Slate Belt League. The Cavaliers trail first place Pocono Mountain by 37 rating points and could cut that lead to nine points by whipping the Green Knights.

Pen Argyl is ineligible for the title since it plays only three league teams but the Knights are unbeaten in two league games, whipping Bangor and Stroud Union.

East Stroudsburg has a 4-4 record and a two game winning streak going. The Cavaliers have beaten Bangor and Pocono Mountain in their last outings.

Must Win
Southern Wayne must win to keep its first half title hopes alive. The Stags are tied with Waymart for first place with a 5-1 mark.

If both Waymart and Southern Wayne win tonight, they will meet either Monday or Tuesday for the first half title.

Delaware Valley is only a game in back of the two leaders and if the Warriors wins tonight and both Waymart and Southern Wayne lose, there will be a three-way tie.

Bangor is also without a league victory, although it has beaten out of division Coplay but games against other division teams are not counted in league standings.

Post Three Wins
The Slayers have an overall mark of 3-6, with a pair of wins over Pleasant Valley and a victory over Coplay.

Pleasant Valley has lost 11 in a row and in Jim Thorpe, the winless Bears face one of the toughest teams in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

The Bears have come close to a win on several occasions but have had trouble going over the double figure mark in every quarter.

Pleasant Valley has also had trouble getting consistent scoring out of any one player. The high scoring honor has been divided between several players.

Oiler Says NFL Planning Will Backfire

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—An official of the Houston Oilers said Thursday he is convinced the National Football League is trying for a quick knockout of the rival American Football League.

John Breen, director of player procurement for the AFL champions, said the NFL will not succeed and its strategy may backfire.

"There is no question in my mind but what the rich clubs of the NFL are viciously trying to eliminate the AFL by paying big bonuses, big annual salaries, and giving no-cut contracts to rookies," Breen said.

"The dollar competition has gone out of sight, out of all reason."

Breen said Houston is doing pretty well in signing rookies despite what he called high prices being paid by the NFL. The Oilers have signed 12 of their 15 draft choices, including five of the top seven.

Scored Five Kos
The article reported Deacon's remarkable feat of winning his first five bouts by knockouts, and stressed the fact that, before coming to Tobyhanna in 1961, he had never before laced on a boxing glove, or even entertained the notion of becoming a fighter.

The story did not mention, however, the disheartening misfortunes that have befallen Deacon since his five KO victories. In the process of winning his sixth match by decision, he suffered a broken thumb and has not made an official ring appearance since.

The thumb healed several months ago, but immediately afterward, in a sparring session with an opponent of professional caliber, Deacon sustained a broken jaw which put him completely out of commission. He has not fought since that day, in October.

Jap Better's Mark
WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—Morito Shigematsu of Japan bettered the world 220-yard breast stroke record Thursday night by swimming the event in 2 minutes, 36.3 seconds. He clipped two-tenths of a second off the official world time of 2:36.5, held by Australian Terry Gather-

Jets Fold But Name New Town

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Jets announced Thursday they will suspend operations for the second half of the American Basketball League season, but said the team will reorganize and play out of nearby Long Beach next season.

A league spokesman in Chicago said the circuit would continue to operate with seven members.

A Jets spokesman said all the team's players have been optioned to other ABL clubs, but are subject to recall for the 1962-63 season.

In New Arena

The spokesman would not say who is to finance the Long Beach entry, but said it expects to play in a soon-to-be-completed sports arena there.

The spokesman said several factors were involved in the folding of the Los Angeles member. These included financial difficulties, competitive pressure from the Los Angeles Lakers of the NBA, and the illness of Len Corbiss, Jet president and one of the ABL founders.

The future of the league, which opened operations this year in opposition to the long-established National Basketball Association, will be discussed this weekend when ABL Commissioner Abe Saperstein returns from Europe.

Still in the league are the Chicago Majors, the New York Tapers, Cleveland Pipers, Pittsburgh Rends, Kansas City Steers, San Francisco Saints and Hawaii Chiefs.

May Merge
There are reports the Cleveland Pipers may merge with the Syracuse Nats of the NBA and operate in Cleveland presumably as an NBA member.

The ABL spokesman said Los Angeles players reverted to ABL control and were assigned as follows, based on a draft determined by the ABL's first-half season finish: Bill Spivey to Hawaii, Dan Swartz to New York, Henry Whitney to Chicago, Jim Palmer to San Francisco and Hal Lear to Kansas City.

Other members will draw for the remainder of the Los Angeles roster.

In Los Angeles, most of the Jets players indicated they will report to their new teams.

Coach Bill Sharman was not immediately available, but a club spokesman pointed out that Sharman carried a two-year contract.

The Jets' business manager, Jack Blank, said all stockholders would be refunded their complete investments.

The Jets are the third professional team in less than two years to fail in Los Angeles. The Chargers of the American Football League moved to San Diego after owner Barron Hilton lost $900,000 in 1960.

Last Monday the Toros of the National Bowling League folded because of failure at the box office.

Saban New Coach
BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Lou Saban, 39, director of player personnel for the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, was named the club's head coach Thursday. He succeeds Gerald (Buster) Ramsey, who was fired two weeks ago.

Angels' Outfielder Pearson Helps Pro-Am Team To 1st

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Former National Collegiate champions Phil Rodgers and Joe Campbell shot into a three-way deadlock with 52-year-old Chuck Congdon for the first round lead in Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf tournament as all fired scores of 67 Thursday.

Each carded his 5-under-par round over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course, a 6,246 yard layout with a par 35-37.

Action for the field of 324 golfers was spread over three par 72 courses. Cypress Point and Pebble Beach were the other two.

The 26-year-old Campbell, who won the NCAA crown while at Purdue in 1955, finished first and hustled off to nurse a case of the flu. He shot an even par 35 going out, but sizzled with a 32 including five birdies on the back nine.

1958 College Champ

Rodgers, chunky 23-year-old from San Diego who won the Los Angeles Open by nine strokes two weeks ago, shot a 34-33. He won his collegiate title in 1958 while at the University of Houston.

Congdon, of Tacoma, Wash., had 33-34, including birdie putts of 40, 20 and 18 feet. A club pro who made only an occasional tournament appearance, the senior missed going into the lead alone when a poor chip shot cost him a probable birdie in the final hole.

The trio held only a 1-stroke lead over a foursome at 68 — Jackie Cupit, Bill Casper, Mason Rudolph and Harry Umbinetti.

In the pro-amateur division, the lead went to a pair from Southern California — pro Bob McCallister from Yorba Linda and the Los Angeles Angels' little outfielder.

They had a best-ball of 59 as Pearson, with a 10-stroke handicap, fired a 74 on his own at Pebble Beach while McCallister had 73.

Thirty pros broke par, including Jack Nicklaus, the 1961 National Amateur champion, who carded a 71 at Cypress Point.

PGA champ Jerry Barber took a 10 at the over-the-ocean 16th at Cypress Point and wound up at 79. South Africa's Gary Player also had a 79 there. Cary Middlecott shot a 78. Arnold Palmer 76 and Art Wall Jr., 74.

Westminster, Pa., moved up three places to fourth and Evansville, Ind., slumped one position to fifth. Westminster won 11 in succession before losing to Pittsburgh, a major college opponent.

Others in the top 10 were:

MARINE RACING HALL OF FAME—Richard Kane of East Stroudsburg, (right), receives Gulf Marine Racing Hall of Fame certificate from E. M. Award, made in New York during boat show at affair making 25th anniversary of Gulf Marine Racing Hall of Fame, is rare distinction.

Poor Approach Shots Blow Player Out Of Contention

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Two off-line approach shots virtually blew South African star Gary Player out of contention with a 79 in the first round of the Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament Thursday.

Meanwhile PGA champion Jerry Barber suffered a 10 on the infamous par 3 16th hole.

Player, the leading money winner in 1961, was even par going into the 14th hole at the trackless Cypress Point course when he had luck struck.

He pulled his iron shot into the thick top of a cypress tree to the left of 14 green and had to take a penalty stroke.

He made an amazing recovery from the rough under the cypress grove, chipping up to within five feet and downing his putt for a bogey five.

Another disaster caught him on 17 where his approach shot carried into the thick ice plant to the right.

Mighty Whacks
It took three mighty whacks to chop out of the ice plant, and then his ball rolled across the green into the fringe, leaving him 50 feet away. He chipped back beautifully, to three feet and dropped his putt for a three-over-par 7.

And that led to a shocking seven over par 79 for the opening round. Barber's 10 added him to the long list of golf casualties at the tricky 16th.

The green is on a point extending into the Pacific Ocean. The tee shot must go over a stretch of water. Barber hit into the water on his first shot.

That meant a penalty stroke, and his next landed in rocks, and the following shot landed in the ice plant.

Before he reached the green on his eighth shot, he had also hit a bridge hand railing.

Barber, who was even with par through 15 holes, wound up with a seven-over 79.
